Crack It, Gag It, Ride it On In Ohio Bike Week Rolls into the I-X Piston Power Show

(Cleveland, OH) It's ON. The I-X Piston Power Show and Excalibur Auto Body presents the largest indoor showcase of cars, bikes, and planes in Ohio under one roof at the I-X Center September 30-October 2, 2011, and welcomes the Ohio Bike Week organization to this year's show! Ohio Bike Week will have a huge presence as they take over the I-X Center's South Hall and transform it into the Ohio Bike Week Pavilion for their Fall Show, featuring an impressive array of new-customs, antique collections, foreign, and hill-climber motorcycles. Best of all, all bikes attending the event this year will enjoy FREE parking all three days of the show, compliments of Ohio Bike Week!

Show Manager, Steve Legerski, was determined to bring the organization to the show after experiencing Ohio Bike Week himself. "I went to Sandusky this summer and was blown away by the amazing gathering of bikes, bikers, and bands. That event has a LOT of energy and we wanted to capture that and bring it here to the I-X Piston Power Show." Legerski and the show team are committed to creating a biker-friendly environment and incorporating all of the elements of success the Sandusky location offers.

One of those elements includes the Ohio Bike Week Bar that will feature specialty priced beverages and hotdogs during specific hours of the event. $4.00 Bud and Bud Light 16oz. bottles, $4.00 Jack Daniels and Pepsi, and $2.00 Nathan's All-Beef Hotdogs will be discounted at limited times throughout the show.

"Ohio Bike Week is extremely proud to create a Fall Show for the state's motorcycle community," said Steve Ernst, president of Ohio Bike Week. The I-X Piston Power Show is an incredible combination of everything cool that runs by engine power."
